NICK'S STORY

"I was referred to New Narrative by the court in my county to get help with housing and mental health struggles. It must have been years ago now when I first walked in those doors but the impression that has been made upon me is lasting because even when I was at my lowest – with addiction, psychosis, homelessness. I was still treated with respect, kind regard and I was heard and my needs were met. My counselors at New Narrative were there for me and I have seen myself do incredible things while receiving services with them. Thank you for the lasting impacts your organization has made in our community by meeting people where they are at and providing the best care possible."
